After a short sojourn in this country and a few weeks of rest at his rural home in Texas, he will recross the ocean, and continue his work in Germany's capital.

MR. LLOYD, the baker, has presented the Personage Fund of the German Church with a horse, which was generously rebought by Mr. L. for a $50 check.

Normal Class.
 During the month of March the Sunday School Normal Class will be held on Wednesday evenings, in the parlor of Westminster Church.

The Sunday School Association.
 The success to the Weekly Normal Class, under the leadership of Rev. W. H. Brodhead, is very gratifying to those interested in the Association. The high standard of the instruction at these meetings is in keeping with its previous history. Since the organization in 1874, the following well-known Christian Workers have participated in its exercises: Andrew A. Smith, Esq., Rev. J. J. Irving (Glasgow), Prof. W. F. Sherwin, Mrs. W. Clark, George A. Peltz, D.D., Jessie Thomas, D.D., C. S. Robinson, D.D., H. C. Fish, D.D., D. Vail, D.D., S. Hastings, D.D., Wm. M. Taylor, D.D., S. T. Swan, D.D., R. S. Storrs, D.D., Jos. T. Duryea, D.D., J. W. Dowling, M.D., Rev. W. H. Brodhead, Lyman Abbott, D.D., T. L. Cuyler, D.D., Ralph Wells, Esq., Wm. Ormiston, D.D., Rev. H. M. Sanders, J. M. Whitton, Ph.D., Rev. A. F. Shandliff, Wayland Hoyt, D.D., Rev. F. N. Peloubet, C. R. Blackall, D.D., S. L. Baldwin, D.D., J. Clement French, D.D., John Peddie, D.D., E. G. Taylor, D.D., Geo. H. Heworth, D.D., and others.

Besides this, several "Teachers' Societies" have been held for the purpose of making the Sunday School Teachers better acquainted with each other, and to increase the social element of the work. In each of the years 1876 and 1882 a grand "Jubilee" was held, in which all the schools of the town participated, bringing together some 1,400 or 1,600 scholars and teachers, with appropriate exercises in the church and hall, a parade on the park and a collection under the wide-spread wings of its border. The work of this Association, in increasing the interest in Sunday School work and in elevating the standard of Sunday School instruction, cannot be overestimated.

We cannot live on probabilities. The faith in which we can live bravely and die in peace must be a certainty, so far as it professes to be a faith at all, or it is nothing.—Anthony Froude.

[WRITTEN FOR THE BLOOMFIELD CITIZEN.]

IN MEMORIAM.

Silent and soft as evening breeze,
 When dies the summer day,
 Our mother crossed the river dark,
 And gently passed away.

Almost we caught the joyous song,
 Of Welcome, as she entered in;
 Almost could see the shining throng,
 So near the opening gates, within.

For many years she lived with us,
 A life so pure and true;
 Her sympathy, her angel love,
 Blessed us like healing dew.

Her's was a patient, heavenly soul,
 Watchful of other's need;
 Her words of comfort, sweet and low,
 The tender, pitying deed.

Upheld us in our daily walk,
 Brightening each cloudy day,
 Like flowers' sweet perfume, stealing soft
 Along life's weary way.

Oh! loving eyes; that now are dim,
 Oh! heart, that loved so long;
 Dear lips, that uttered words of cheer,
 And sung our cradle song!

Within those portals, sealed to us,
 Where is thy home, oh where?
 Does thy freed soul look back on earth,
 Is love and memory there?

Oh! wondrous change! I follow close,
 With strong and longing love,
 Those fair, slow footsteps as they pass,
 Within the home above.

Forgotten now her earthly cross,
 The rough and toilsome way;
 Lost in the perfect peace and rest
 Of that eternal day.

Dear Lord! within Thy tender arms,
 Our broken spirits keep,
 We yield our treasure to Thy care;
 Give our beloved sleep.

Draw us in faith to that fair home,
 Where she has found her rest;
 Hold us, all weak and worn with grief,
 Upon Thy loving breast.

And may we see, through tears, that day,
 Beyond this earthly pain;
 When Thou wilt join, in perfect love,
 These broken ties again.

Report of Committee on Drainage.

In pursuance with the request of the Improvement Association, the following is a synopsis of the report made to their recent meeting by the Committee, consisting of Dr. J. A. Davis, Jos. K. Oakes, Richard Handy and J. M. Bancroft, who were appointed at a previous meeting to enquire into and investigate the subject of drainage in certain localities of the town. The Committee reported that they have carefully examined the principal portions of the town needing attention.

The district bounded by Broad and Liberty streets, and Bloomfield and Park avenues, and culminating at the corner of Bloomfield Avenue and Liberty Street, they find greatly needing relief, and conclude that the most feasible plan is to build a covered culvert or sewer, the corner of State Street, through Liberty Street, and across Bloomfield Avenue through a lot of 11 feet owned by C. L. Ward and adjoining his shop, and running through property of estate of Joseph E. Ward, of which T. E. Hayes is one of the executors. It is understood the parties interested will give the right of way, providing the sewer, to be of the size of 36 inches, and 24 inches in diameter at beginning and widening to 3 feet at the Brook, costing about $1,000. In the opinion of the Committee, this plan is sufficient, not only for present use but also in the future it should be found necessary to extend the sewer through State Street to Park Avenue. The Committee while examining this matter also considered the feasibility of extension of Liberty Street across Bloomfield Avenue on the same line as proposed sewer and with a view of at some future date, extending in a direct line to Hillside Avenue or Washington Street. The estimated cost of this street to Tony's Brook, including filling and grading, would be about $800, or about $2,000 for street and sewer, and in the opinion of the Committee these improvements would be wise and judicious ones now, while they can be secured on such favorable terms, and they are of the opinion that it would enhance the value of property. And if both the mentioned improvements are carried through together can be accomplished at much less expense than if done separately and for less than the figure given above. The Committee in illustration of the advantage of undertaking this improvement under the present advantageous circumstances, quoted the recent opening of a street in East Orange to connect with another street that cost the town $10,000, which three years ago could have been accomplished for less than half that sum. They were also of the opinion that the Essex Road Road should bear a portion of the expense, as their changing the grade of Bloomfield Avenue was the cause of a large part of the difficulty.

The Council reported that they had examined the property north of Park Avenue and west of Broad Street, and above the Montclair Railroad to Pitt Street, and find great need of attention to that section of the town. They had supposed that the relief necessary could be furnished through surface drainage, but to accomplish this the necessary change of grade of streets would make the cost about as great as an underground sewer, while not near so effective nor permanent. The first proposition, and one that has often been mentioned, was to run a deep gutter or sewer through Belleville Avenue and under the Canal, but on examination this was found to afford relief to but such a small portion of the territory as to be entirely impracticable. After a careful examination of the ground affected and the grade of the streets the unanimous conclusion of the Committee was that the only feasible plan was to run an underground sewer from Belleville Avenue, near Colfax's store, through Broad Street, to the brook passing under the Canal near the foot of the Inclined Plane. This would be a permanent improvement, and with opening at the street crossings would effectively drain a large territory. The distance from Belleville Avenue to the brook named is 2,700 feet, and the sewer to be run would be about $5,000. The increase in the value of property affected by this improvement would amount to several times its cost. It is a grave necessity that this street should be sewered and the property drained at the present time, but the introduction of water will make the necessity a still greater one.

The Committee have held several meetings and have fully considered the relative merits of the different plans, and while they have been careful not to recommend any extravagant outlay of the money and not to suggest improvements that are not a real necessity even at the present time, they feel that this is a question that ought not to go longer unsettled, and one that will very soon demand the earnest attention of a larger territory than is now interested. We, your Committee, respectfully submit, etc.

Vital Statistics.
 The table below gives the deaths per thousand in the different cities and townships:

Livingston	13.57
East Orange	33.65
Caldwell	14.20
Bloomfield	14.40
Clinton	14.40
South Orange	17.47
Franklin	18.70
Milburn	18.90
Montclair	20.00
West Orange	20.00
Belleville	21.70
Orange	25.44
Newark	28.66

Death rate per thousand, without cities, 17.23.

It is thus seen that the rate in Livingston, East Orange, Caldwell, Bloomfield and Clinton is practically the same, and lower (in some case much lower) than in the other townships. There is another fact to be gathered from the table, which we think is rather startling to those people who are fond of talking about Bloomfield's being "down in a valley." The valley towns are among the most favored by the absence of death, East Orange and Bloomfield occupy the plain on the east of the trap ridge, and Caldwell and Livingston the one on the west. Some of the hill towns, on the contrary, show high figures in several directions. There is no change about this either. High altitude does not necessarily mean good drainage or pure air. The deep stratum of gravel which underlies Bloomfield, and its numerous streams, secure for it almost as perfect a surface and under-drainage as can be conceived of, with all the sanitary vantage ground which these conditions imply. If the health of the town was not most excellent, it would be the fault of the people and not of the place.

In harmony with the foregoing, the following record of deaths is given, mostly taken from the columns of THE CITIZEN, may be of interest:

"The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of their weddings by Mr. and Mrs. Anzi Baiden and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Osborn. The celebration of her ninetieth birthday by Mrs. Martha (Aunt Patty) Morris. Miss Harriet Pierson in her ninety-first birthday. Of his eighty-eighth birthday by Mr. W. H. Fenn. Of his ninety-ninth birthday by Mr. Israel C. Ward, and of his eightieth birthday by Mr. Alvan H. Dodd.

Of the small death-rate of Bloomfield since Jan. 1, four have been between the ages of fifty and sixty, five between sixty and seventy, seven between seventy and eighty, and five between eighty and ninety. This record speaks volumes for the healthfulness of Bloomfield as a place of continued residence."

The foregoing article appeared in THE CITIZEN of Feb. 28, and has been requested, by request. Since its publication the record of the U. S. census of 1880, now on file at the County Clerk's office have been examined, and of the population of 5,748 reported at that time, 289 persons were 50 years of age and upward, of that number 130 were aged 70 and upward; 26 of that number were 80 and upward, and yet none of that number were over 90. Again it can be said to speak volumes for Bloomfield's healthfulness.

The "Old Board."

A pleasant reunion of the six surviving members of the Board of Trustees of the First Presbyterian Church for the years 1874-77, inclusive, was held at the residence of Mr. Thomas McGowan, on Tuesday evening, Feb. 28. The members of the board were: Thomas McGowan, Pres., Samuel J. Potter, Treas., since deceased, John F. Folsom, Secy., Augustus T. Morris, Nathil. H. Ward, J. J. Banks, Reford, and Theodore H. Ward.

The occasion of the meeting was complimentary to Mr. H. Herbert Biddulph, who has been quietly invited to spend the evening with Mr. McGowan, his family, and was surprised on his arrival to find present, also to welcome him, the board who in 1874 engaged him to conduct the singing in the church, in which service he has been steadily engaged for the ten years, and retiring only recently for a needed rest.

After enjoying the substantial hospitality of Mr. McGowan, by Mr. McGowan and Mrs. Joseph Fairbanks, of the family, the "flow of soul" brought many recollections of the work of the "Old Board," notably the sale of the old Parsonage and the present of the same one, the introduction of the voluntary system of contributions, the extensive repairs in the church edifice, all in 1874, as well as the calling by the Session to the Pastor the Rev. H. W. Fenn, in 1876, to succeed the late Mr. McGowan, and the agitation of the matter of new Sunday-school Rooms and Parlors in 1876, which ended in retaining the old lecture room for use for secular purposes, and furnishing it for church purposes alone for a temporary relief.

Remarks were made by Messrs. McGowan, Reford, Morris, Ward, and Dodd, each referring in tender words to the loss made by the death of Mr. S. J. Potter, the faithful and efficient Treasurer of the Old Board.

The greatest surprise of the evening, to Mr. Biddulph was the presentation, on behalf of those present, by Mr. John F. Folsom, of a handsome Ebony Hall Clock (Seth Thomas make), as a token of their regard and esteem for his faithful labors in the musical service of the church. Mr. Biddulph responded to the donors in an appropriate and happy speech.

So now it remains to be written that in the affairs of the "Old Stone Church," from 1877 to the present time, improvements have gone on until now the commodious Sunday-school Rooms and the new organ attest the earnest labors of the worthy successors of the "Old Board."

The Attractiveness of Bloomfield.

To the Bloomfield Citizen:

The following scrap I have carried in my pocketbook for a long time as being one of the best reports of the attractiveness of Bloomfield that I have seen, and I send it to you as worthy of publication. "Bloomfield is only twelve miles from New York and four from Newark, and is connected with each by two railways, giving 50 trains (25 each way) daily. It is also connected with Newark by a street railway. It immediately adjoins Montclair and Orange, and combines the advantages of both these beautiful places. Each of the township comprises an elevated plateau overlooking the sides Orange and Montclair, Newark,

New York, etc., and affords very attractive locations for suburban residences. The central portion is graced by a pleasant Village Green, that is an unusually agreeable feature of the town, and an attractive place of resort. The streets are for the most provided with gas and sidewalks, and are lined with shade trees, which give to them an air of agreeable repose. With these and other advantages, embracing a superior water-shed, a substratum of sand and gravel, and the health which these insure, including freedom from malaria except in given parts of the township from immediately local causes, Bloomfield is a desirable place to locate in.
